Amelia Earhart
THE FUN OF IT

Amelia Earheart is (spiritually) Alive Today

Amelia Earheart was a very famous woman. She was born on July 24th of 1897 and disappeared in flight across the Pacific on July 2nd of 1937. She was the first woman to fly across the Atlantic Ocean in 1926. And she had a number of other firsts in her life.

She became famous because she didn't give in to the male supremacy that pervaded the atmosphere in those days. In fact she encouraged and coached other women to accept roles that were normally done only by men.

In her flight across the Atlantic, she made it because she never put it in reverse, that is, she never backed down from her dream. Neither should other women (or men) back down from their dreams. Nothing is impossible to us human beings. I love to say, "We are virtually unlimited in what we can do when we belong to God."

Faith in God drives away fears and fortifies us to do great things. But nothing is impossible even to those who don't accept God as their Father and creator. Our mission, should we decide to accept, is to take this life and live it. And give it all we've got until the day that the Lord calls us home.

According to Psalms 139, God planned the number of our days long before the foundation of the world was laid. We are fearfully and wonderfully made. We are not going to live a day longer or die a day sooner than God has planned. So why should we be paralyzed by fear and limit our accomplishments? Living (really living) in the face of trials and tribulations (TnT), adversity, and dangers only makes us stronger and builds a solid foundation of faith under which we are supported to accomplish even greater things. That is the power of TnT.

Will you move forward as Amelia Earheart did in the face of the impossible? If you are a woman or a man of faith, will you launch out and walk on the water with Jesus? Nothing is impossible. You can do it! With faith we can move mountains.

I know many people who do impossible things with their lives, including myself. I know a girl who fell from an eight-foot stepladder (five years ago) and landed on her bony bottom. She did extensive damage to her spinal column, broke a few ribs, and was told she would never walk again. A few days later (by faith) she walked out of the hospital completely healed. Now she is dedicated to giving hearing-impaired people a way of communicating with the VideoPhone.

Six years ago I fell from the roof of a two-story building and landed on my bony bottom. The momentum pushed me backward and I smacked the back of my head against the cement pad that held the air-conditioner. I was stunned a little but had no injuries. I was up on my hands and knees checking my self over and talking to God. I rubbed the back of my head saying, "I hope this doesn't mean I'm going to have brain damage. I've got to use that thing for the rest of my life." And suddenly this voice answered me; and it said, "Are you okay?" It was the owner of the place. He had come running out because he heard the crash when I took out a window on the way down. The back of my shirt was ripped across the shoulders; but there wasn't a scratch on me. By faith I had put my trust in God to even carry out that job in my condition with MS. Now, even my MS is in deep remission or maybe gone by using a supplement called MaxGXL.

My Yoga Instructor had an automobile accident some years ago that left her crippled up in many ways. She also received dire predictions for her future. But she made up her mind, whether consciously or unconsciously, that it wouldn't be so. She began doing Yoga exercises to strengthen and limber up her body. Now just into her 60's she's the most physically fit person in our Yoga class. There is nothing she can't do. On the days when pain still comes, as it sometimes will, she takes it easier. But she never backs up. Now (by faith) her dream is to help others have better health and stronger bodies. She doesn't push us to our limits. She guides us easily along, every Tuesday night in Richland Hills, Texas. www.RHChurch.org

I have a blind friend who writes newspaper articles. She did an article on me when I built a dollhouse sized model of a courtroom to use in teaching, encouraging, and comforting children who had to go to court in abuse cases. Another friend with only one hand sewed the curtains for the courtroom with a needle and thread.

I have an aunt who just turned 80 and is a line dancer. Her sister who is 88 played the guitar and sang with her on her 80th birthday. My mother (another sister) who is 85 danced with me last year at her grand daughter's wedding. The photographer followed us around the dance floor shooting pictures of this phenomenal sight, a very old lady dancing up a storm with a vivacious young buck.

I do something most people look at as impossible. I memorize long documents of history and scripture and do dramatic presentations in costume. I memorized Romans- 16 chapters, 10,393 words, and I present it from memory in 70 minutes. I memorized Esther, 10 chapters, 5678 words. I present that in 38 minutes. Those two are the longest documents of scripture I have memorized. The longest historical documents are "Awakened to Danger and Called to Defend Freedom"- 3017 words, a 20-minute presentation, and "I Have a Dream"- 1679 words, an 11-minute presentation. If others could just believe that it can be done and have a desire to do it, they could easily outdo me. www.PatrioticAmericanMemoryTraining.com I have memory loss from MS or AGE or something.

There are many others who do impossible things. And those of us listed here do other impossible things. And it's because we never put it in reverse. We keep moving forward across the Atlantic, the Pacific, or whatever obstacle is in our way.

Just for fun let me make mention of Amelia's runner up whose name is Witch Hailda. She's a cross between Witch Hazel and Witch Hilda. She also launched out across the Atlantic. She nearly made it but she had to make an emergency landing when her broom coughed out on her. Hail, da darn thing was getting too much gas. I mean witches do drink some pretty strong potions.

Well the moral of the story is this: don't let your hindsight bomb you out. Pursue your dreams at full speed ahead. Whatever happens, it'll all come out in the wash.

Now Amelia Earheart is a beautiful mermaid on a Pacific Island. Her mission is to help all land lubbers in distress. Here's a mermaid story for you.

Pursue your dreams. Strive for excellence, not perfection. Don't ever put it in reverse. Take this life and live it, and give it all you've got until the day that the Lord calls you home.
