

Response to September 11th Memorial

9/11 was an inside job, done by the US government, in order to permit both a war of aggression to obtain resources in the Middle East, and to permit the effective dissolution of the basic rights guaranteed by the Constitution. Both achievements have been very successful. George Bush was in on this little gag, so there is nothing I want to hear from that traitor.

Don't send me this crap.

Jennifer

Dear Jennifer:

At least we know that the ones who died are innocent. They didn't purposely give up their lives. So if you want to honor those whose lives were taken you can view these videos free of charge. Just turn off the sound and you won't hear me speaking "Awakened to Danger and Called to Defend Freedom."

I am innocent too. I act out of love for all people. Oh, I wish you could hear me though; I am very good at memorizing and presenting. I hope you believe me that I would never hurt anyone. I would like to be your friend too.

Please help me to understand some things:

How did our government find suicidal people to fly the planes into the buildings?

How did our government know when and where these suicidal pilots would act so they could have explosives ready in the buildings? (some have said that explosives were planted)

How did George Bush find someone like Todd Beamer to organize the action aboard flight 93 that saved the White House?

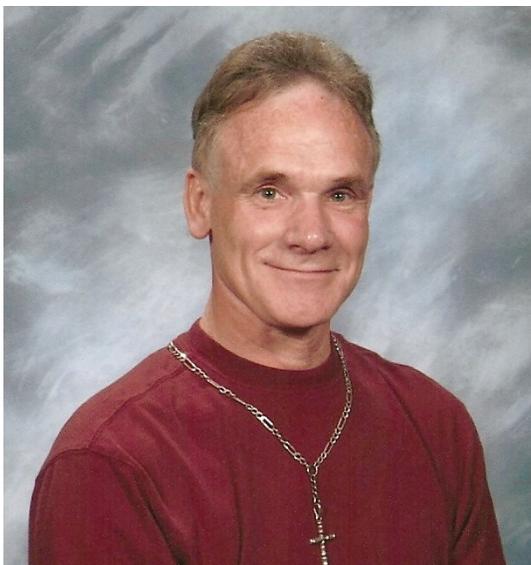

How does a person put such a loving, caring speech together and present it having such a guilty conscience?

How did our government get so many people involved to get all things set up and worked out and kept in silence? I mean there had to be several people who were cold-blooded murderers and willing to keep it a secret.

I hope you can think of another explanation that wouldn't make our government out to be so bad. I would sure like to think that you are a loving kindhearted person. Please send a picture. I will attach one of me so you can see if I look kind hearted and full of love.

Thank you Dear.
Please write back.

Blessings,
Wes Allen

Hello!

How did our government find suicidal people to fly the planes into the buildings?

They didn't. Remote control of large planes has existed since the 1960's, the basic technology is trivial. The planes had to have been computer controlled; if you examine the accuracy of the impacts, as well as the precision of the angle, the idea that men who flunked out of training to fly Piper Cubs (single engine personal planes) guiding commercial airliners with precision accuracy seems... ridiculous.

How did George Bush find someone like Todd Beamer to organize the action aboard flight 93 that saved the White House?

That event never happened. The only evidence is the word of men you don't know, as reported on news you can't trust.

How does a person put such a loving, caring speech together and present it having such a guilty conscience?

For a politician, reading words written by a professional script writer is a basic skill. So is acting. I ask you, are politicians known for honesty? Are they known for love, or for power?

More than a few studies have shown, over the decades, that people drawn to political power are vastly more likely to suffer from sociopathy - an inability to have sympathy with other people, or to truly care about the feelings or needs of others.

Lying comes easy.

How did our government get so many people involved to get all things set up and worked out and kept in silence? I mean there had to be several people who were cold-blooded murderers and willing to keep it a secret.

Being cold-blooded is a requirement for work as a covert agent. I know. My father was one, and he was a sociopathic, stone cold, violently evil bastard. And he never went past a GS14 pay scale because he was too emotive. He wasn't cold enough for the CIA. Think about that.

The key to keeping anything secret is simple: money, fear, and termination if there is any potential threat, or if there is inconvenience involved. Trivial, really.

Would you tell the world about a really awful government conspiracy if you knew, without any doubt whatsoever, that the moment you even tried, your family -everyone you love- would be dead within 48 hours? Add to that a cool million to keep your yap shut, and, well, what would you do?

You would do nothing, I assure you. Or you would be dead. It's simple. It's easy.

I hope you can think of another explanation that wouldn't make our government out to be so bad. I would sure like to think that you are a loving kind hearted person. Please send a picture. I will attach one of me so you can see if I look kind hearted and full of love.

I genuinely wish I could offer a better explanation. Even a cursory look at the real events... there is no other rational explanation. Bombs inside, not planes took those buildings down, and nobody dares truly admit that. Nobody wants to.

But I cannot turn away, just because it is easier.

Don't take my word for it, just look, really look at the films of those buildings. You've seen demolition movies before. If not, go compare. That alone is enough.

A building not under controlled demolition will fall any which way, not conveniently into it's own footprint.

That is why demolition companies exist, after all. To do professionally what happened to all three buildings 'accidentally'. No. That never happens. Especially not for three buildings. Very convenient, that.

And that is only one tiny bit of the evidence. Sorry. Jennifer

Dear Jennifer:

I act with a clear conscience always; and what I do is with the best interests of all people in mind. At the prompting of the Spirit I created this Memorial. The idea in my mind was to resurrect some good feeling about George Bush and to keep alive the memory of all the innocent people whose lives were taken on September eleventh. No one who has any care and concern for people will want to just forget that they ever existed as an affliction for their own feelings. And there are many more things to consider before putting such a heavy blame and burden on one man. Where are all the guilty people?

If the planes were remote controlled, then American Airlines and United Airlines would also be involved; and they would have to be considered unsafe for any public air transportation in the future. And if they were involved, there would be the matter of having to choose which of their employees they would want to see die. And they would also be allowing and contributing to the death of many innocent passengers. Dozens of their ground employees would have to have been blinded to the preparation of the planes or also involved in mass murder. These deaths were real and are publicized before the whole world.

The airline employees who created the Flight Crew Memorial believe that their friends did indeed die in the crash. They had to be on the planes or the passengers would never have stayed in their seats while the planes took off without a flight crew. And if the planes were out of the pilots' control there would have been notification to ground control. There would have been no way to cover it up. Calls could easily have been made from the planes.

It takes a lot of explosives to bring down a building in a demolition mode, and there has to be, of necessity, a company that supplied the explosives. That company would then have to be another guilty party, or left to wonder where the huge quantity of explosives were to be used. And after the buildings went down, they would then have reported the huge sale of the explosives if they were not also involved.

We are talking about a job so big it would have taken 1000's of people involved to pull it off. And there would have been the necessity to make sure all these murderers were not relatives of anyone who they were sentencing to death, lest they should bolt for the door at the last minute.

And poor innocent George Bush could not have masterminded the whole job or have gotten all those people involved. It would take a very big brainstorming group to come up with the ideas that put it all together. And George Bush would not have consented to be the scapegoat for the wrath of the public; for if he did he would not now be keeping his mouth closed. He would be pointing out all the big influential world leaders who were involved.

I know it is extremely hard for you as well as most people to turn the other way and let injustice prevail. But if you are going to play detective, it is necessary to talk more about the facts. Incidentally, you are not only playing detective, but also Judge, jury, prosecuting attorney, and the whole nine yards. And if you were a fair detective who had uncovered legitimate facts you would now be responsible for bringing it to light for all the world to see. Otherwise you are in danger of a much stricter judgment.

I do not listen to or believe anything that the media says. They are the ones condemning George Bush. They are also the ones that help people spread, all over the Internet, the stories of planted explosives, remote control planes, and many other criticisms of our past President. If I put myself in the place of President George Bush, I would never have been able to carry out my duties as president under the burden of all the criticism. George Bush did a remarkable job as president in light of all that was against him.

There has to be a better explanation of all that took place. I agree that it looks fishy; but I disagree with your conclusions without considering all the facts; and there are many more than what we already talked about. I choose to respect and admire George Bush for the person I know that he is, not hate him or Bushwhack him for the rumors that we hear. I am following the teachings of my Lord Jesus Christ not the gossip that goes around the world so easily.

Hopefully we can discuss more.

Blessings Dear,

Wes Allen

Hello!

It would not have required anyone outside of those involved to know.

The job could easily have been done with a crew of 30 or less people.

No one at any airline would need to know anything at all.

Here is how I would have done it, as a thought experiment:

Set up the Arabic patsies to take the fall, and arrange the details to give to the press. Ongoing.

Under federal secrecy acts, have a handful of agents 'search' a number of planes for 'bombs'. During a few days 'search and investigation' time, have covert agents install remote control systems in planes. Let planes fly normally until needed. When needed, override normal 'fly-by-wire' and communications system and simply plow the planes into the buildings.

Send a small crew to seed explosives throughout the towers under the guise of building maintenance over a few weeks (evidence of this has actually been reported by survivors)

Put Bush in a safe place, such as a classroom with kids, far away. Something that reeks of 'American Values'.

Force the shut down of all normal defence protocols so that guided planes can't be intercepted (this was actually done and is documented).

Smash planes, timing them for maximum effect.

Demolish buildings.

Kill entire covert 'false flag' team once job is finished.

In defiance of established law, remove all evidence at the tower site and ship it to China, immediately (this was actually done and is documented).

Blame 'terrorists'. Overlook that they were all Arabs. Arabs are allies of the Bush family (documented).

Attack Iran - public doesn't care the difference.

Gain oil, power, and a massive strategic base in the Middle East, as well as the virtual elimination of the Constitution for the benefit of the wealthy and corporate.

Reap the massive, ungodly rewards. Roll in money. Laugh at it all.

+ + + + +

Side note: for any air-to-ground communication, just use voice synthesis to replace any needed passenger or crew voice.

Last Note: There will need to be a counter-information campaign to render any investigation of these events a matter of public scorn and ridicule. This was standard in all previous 'False Flag' operations the US has performed, so it would be standard here.

Job done, easy, straightforward, and costs only a small number of loyal agents when the silencing is done. Very cost effective!

Some major mistakes they made: Building 3 was demolished even though no plane even touched it. Various excuses have been made, but it still remains unsolved. No one is permitted to investigate.

So you see, it really would be simple, for a government body. The CIA would have no trouble at all. Black Ops would find it trivial. You could even outsource parts of it to trained foreign nationals, who could be eliminated most easily of all.

The rewards would be in the trillions and beyond, not to mention the power to fundamentally alter society itself for additional profit, and all at the mere cost of a few agents.

There would be no down side.

I assure you, this is how people like my (now deceased) father think.

They rely on people not being able to believe that power and wealth are more important than 'right' and 'human lives' and 'the rule of law'. They rely on people being unable to even imagine how easy it would be to pull off a stunt like this. But above all, they rely on people thinking that everyone believes in the same values in life. That is what makes it easy.

Jennifer

Dear Jennifer:

You are very smart. I don't have any means of knowing all that you do of how such things could have taken place, or what has been reported in the news. I'm not the one who is agreeing with the media, because I haven't watched TV in 20 years, I don't listen to the radio because I'm hearing impaired and for other reasons, and I don't read newspapers.

So I didn't know that this whole matter wasn't investigated. I did not know about a third building. Tell me about that. I get Internet news and news from other people about things that are happening. But I do not agree with everything. I did not see how President George Bush could even carry out his job under the heavy burden of criticism he received from nearly all people.

I received personal notes and compliments from President George Bush for what I do. I memorize long documents of History and Scripture and do dramatic presentations in costume. I try to lead people to deeper patriotism and love for our country and our heritage and God who gave us our freedom here. And I teach Memory Techniques. My goal is to introduce Memory Techniques into our educational system, and make America the smartest nation on Earth. I had also fasted for 40 days (once a year for 7 years) and prayed for thousands of people including our president and the government and read the Bible completely through during each 40-day period. I still do the Bible reading, but not fasting. I've read it through 15 times now. I was commended for that by President George Bush. I believe in him to be a very good and godly person. And I know a few who went to school with him, and they will confirm that he is a very good and godly person.

Jennifer, George Bush is a Christian, which doesn't mean anything in some cases; but I believe it does in his case. A Christian cannot do wrong without his conscience eating him up. Guilt is so strong that it renders a person incapable of functioning in everyday life. If he were guilty of all that you are accusing him, he would be a basket case and unable to function.

In the Internet news and forwards that are passed around I heard of many good things that George Bush did and kindness that he has done for people. I have been to James Robinson's organization and have seen Bush's picture there and have heard about him praying with James Robinson. Even the media (that is, on the Internet) that makes such ugly comments about him, has given him the good compliments of having read his Bible every day and having done other deeds commensurate to living a Christian life.

They, of course, don't call them good comments because they don't agree with anything about a Christian life, and don't believe in God or the Bible. Religious people are said to be the troublemakers of the world; and I can assure you some of them are. But some of us are more Spiritual than Religious, that's the difference. George Bush is Spiritual. Religion hurts, destroys, and kills.

Now, if the government put all this 911 stuff together, why is George Bush getting the whole blame? And why is he degraded by the whole world and labeled number 37 out of 43 presidents? Did he agree to be the scapegoat for the money he will receive? And why, after releasing Saddam Husein and sending him back to his country did his own people put him to death if he wasn't a cruel dictator, supporting terrorism and the Taliban Regime? And if this whole thing was put together for the Bush oil interests, how then is the whole government involved? And why are our troops still in Iraq? Is Obama involved too? And if Obama is not involved, but interested in investigating Bush, how does he control a government that was involved?

And the media has to also be involved to report what the government wants reported. But the media did not support our president, they criticized his every move. And what company supplied the explosives with which to prepare these buildings for demolition? And where are the airline inquiries about the maintenance done to their planes? I think it would take many more than 30 people to put this thing together. And these people have to be highly trained demolition experts to place the explosives. And they had to be highly skilled electronic technicians to prepare the planes for remote control. And these skilled technicians in both cases have to still be working for their companies or there would be the big question of what happened to so many all at once. And if they were paid off a cool million as you said, their spending habits would have already become evident and would be in question. And being so many of them, that would raise a big question to which people would want answers. And there had to be a company to supply the remote control equipment. And these companies have to also be involved in the evil scheme to supply equipment and technicians.

And what about beautiful and innocent Laura Bush? Is she also able to live with having been involved in an evil scheme and her conscience doesn't show it? And what about the spouses of all the needed technicians, are they also involved and keeping quiet and not looking guilty? Whatever number of helpers you choose, you have to double it because most people have a partner. And there has been talk of investigating George Bush. If the government was involved, how would that happen? The truth would come out. And as many as had to be involved to pull off such a job, at least one would cop out and spill the beans.

Now let's entertain the possibility that George Bush was guilty, then my September 11th Memorial will serve an even higher and greater purpose. It will not only commemorate all those whose lives were taken; but it will make the guilty ones cry to see the faces and to hear the speech come from my lips, for I speak with conviction. I speak dramatically. And I don't have a guilty conscience. If these Memorial videos were run in the faces of the guilty ones, whoever they are, we could accomplish a great rollover and confession. At least one person will break.

Will you help me by looking to see what I created, and help me to figure out how to get it in front of the ones who may have been involved? We've got to send millions of people to my page:
www.PatrioticAmericanMemoryTraining.com/September11thMemorial.htm It won't matter that I am trying to promote good feeling about George Bush. Even that fact will make him crack. I said I was led by the Spirit to put this whole thing together; but that doesn't mean it has to accomplish my agenda. Whatever God wants will happen. Will you help me, Jennifer? But please answer more questions too. Thanks!

Blessings,
Wes Allen
